

Risk and Adventure in Society

Thursday, 27 February 2014

St George's House Consultation - Campaign for Adventure

The main objective of this event was to attract the leaders and opinion-formers from across society and from different areas of interest and expertise - business, education, entrepreneurial activity, the voluntary sector, the law and government - to come together for a period of intense debate and discussion . The aim of the consultation was to explore the question: 'What is the contribution that healthy adventure and exploration makes, and could be making, to all aspects of society if we were able to remove the blocks and free-up opportunity? Participants and speakers The place of outdoor learning in the national curriculum - a summary of the proposition from Bertie Everard Adventure, risk and enterprise - an educational response from John Huskins Hetan Shah's notes on a single issue group Professor Shirley Ali Khan's summary of his discussion group's thoughts Sir Christopher Ball Prof Rajagopadand Sampatkumer, Libby Purves & Jon Ball

Further information telephone contact: 01392 27237201392 272372

email contact: ian@campaignforadventure.org CallSend SMSAdd to SkypeYou'll need Skype CreditFree via Skype